

HUGE SUMS NEEDED FOR WAR PLANS

J. D. A. Morrow, general secretary of the National Coal association and formerly of Pittsburg, has been placed in charge of the distribution of coal. He will route and ship to the consuming sections all coal direct from the mines. Mr. Morrow is a practical coal man. He was formerly an assistant secretary of the federal trade commission.

WORLD'S SERIES HERO NOW OVER IN FRANCE DOPES OUT WAR GAME

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
With the American Expeditionary Force, France, Feb. 15.—It is a wonder if the folks back home realize that the war game will be going up against the real thing pretty soon.

A world's series expressed the perplexity of the perplexed thousands of thinking Americans. To them the war is becoming more and more imminent with each shadow.

Last summer they measured by months the period before they will go into the line against the "real thing." Now they calculate the time by weeks, assuming without any official information that our army will go into the line during the winter or spring.

The big red-tailed ball player is color-arranged of a champion regiment, which practices democracy to the fall. He was sitting in the colonel's office, and he was hearing the typical of a soldier to be heard nowadays from one end to the other of the widely scattered war camp.

Anybody knowing in touch with the war in this war league can see that the Kaiser's about to send in all his best hitters, trying to win the war.

"Now suppose the allies shot signs of wobbling. What would happen?"

"Well, what would any wise bench manager do if he saw his club beginning to falter in the ninth with the game already on ice?"

In those dark days when the American ball players were warming up back in the grandstand the last six months waiting for a chance to show what they can do in a pinch.

The ex-honorary member leaned forward in a reflective moment, stirring the air in the colonel's stove with a twig from the kindling box. Here in an ugly little French village, thousands of miles from the league parks, he might be thinking of that hot, Indian summer day a few seasons back when he won a world's series game with a four-pitcher.

For as there came to his mind the faint echo of those explosive cheers from thousands of throats as he rounded third and streaked for the plate—a baseball hero of future years to look up to.

"I wish the United Press could shock the folks back home. I don't believe they appreciate the fact that it's about time the American soldiers were fighting—not in a quiet sector far where the shelling is hottest.

"When we go into the trenches they'll have to send us thousands of tons of food and clothing and shells. I'll have to have a belt full of bullets all the time or I'd just be a wild boob for the Boches to shoot at."

"Maybe they're building a better ship back home and keeping it better than ours. Well, I don't have a lot of ships—that's granted. And we've got so much about what we're going to do that it seems to me it's about time we'd have said something about it."

"You tell the people this—that if they don't build ships and quit ragging about it they'll be selling us out. I don't think the folks at home want a nautical Sammy's view of our situation and a fairly accurate view at that."

CENTRAL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT IN BELOIT

Semi-Finals Will Be Played This Evening at Smith Gymnasium.
—Close Games on Card.

Yesterday.

Illinois Athletic club of Chicago, Kent College of Law of Chicago, Besley Company and Fairbanks Morse, both of Beloit, were the survivors of basketball games in the games played Thursday afternoon and evening at Beloit in the Central A. A. U. unlimited weight basketball championship games in the college gym at Beloit.

Chicago and St. Mary's military academy are also in the race, but have not yet played any games.

Only one game was played yesterday afternoon, the Kent College vs. Beloit, resulting in a victory for the Beloit team by the score of 24 to 14.

Robert Kenning of this city played forward for the losers and scored one basket. The feature game of the evening program was the battle between the Y. M. C. of Detroit and the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago.

The Y. M. C. of Chicago won the comeback in the last five minutes of play and were returned victors by the score of 21 to 13. The Y. M. C. basketball team lead throughout the second half but the substitute of two new men on the part of the winners changed the tide of battle.

Although apparently the best team, the Manti Wagon Works of Stoughton, Wis., were defeated at the hands of Kent College of Law. The Stoughton five were lost on the big floor and did not seem to find themselves until it was too late. The final score was 25 to 20.

The last game on the schedule was between the Fairbanks Morse and the Whiting Owls. The Owls lost by a margin of one point but as soon as the final period began the Beloit men took a brace and scored several baskets in rapid succession, giving them a comfortable lead. The final score was 25 to 18.

Games Today.

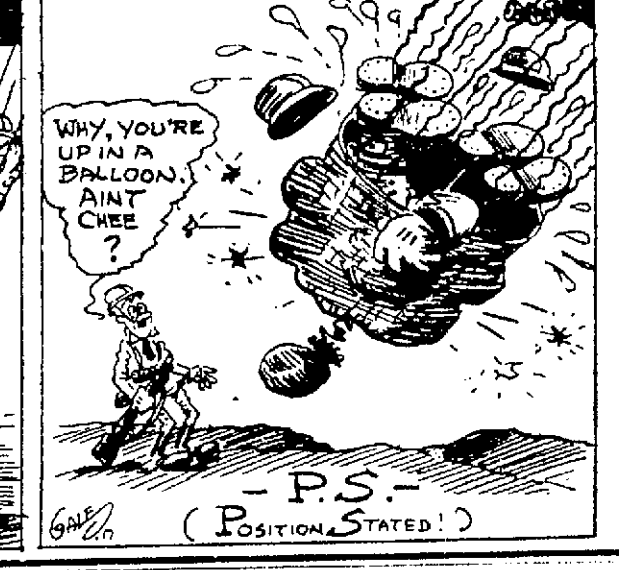

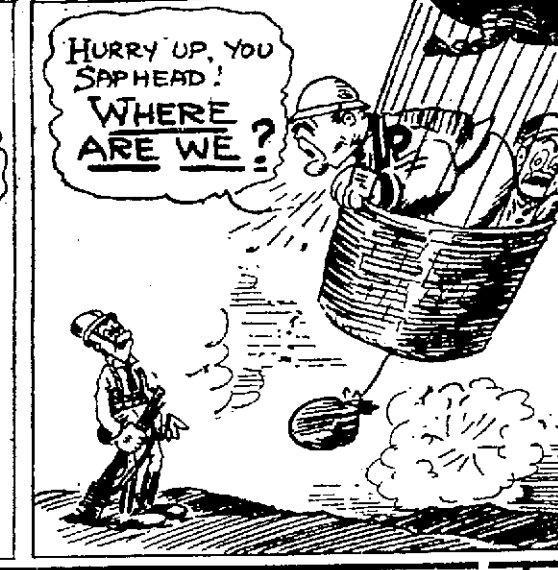

This afternoon at two-thirty St. John's military academy of Beloit and Kent College of Law. Following this game the Fairbanks Morse and Besley teams clashed to decide who should enter the semi-finals.

The semi-finals this evening will bring together Kent College of Law and the winner of the St. John's-Beloit College game in the first game and the I. A. C. and the winner of the Fairbanks-Besley game in the second contest.

Albert Marnaux, who will pitch for the Brooklyn this year if he isn't called in the next army draft, takes exception to a widely circulated story that he didn't try his level best as a member of the Pirates. Persons who know Marnaux intimately do not believe this charge. The young pitcher suffered from a lame arm last year and was unable to earn his salary. It would be unfair to call him a whiner, for there is no ground for such an accusation. Marnaux will be welcomed by Brooklyn fans and there is no doubt that he will make them with a return to his best form.

Clay Turner, a clever and game middleweight, claims to be a full-blooded Indian although he has a decidedly Caucasian appearance. Or the half-breds of early ring days took advantage of a distinction, and most of them were flat failures.

WHITE SOX TO OPEN AGAINST BROWNS IN CHICAGO ON APRIL 16

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Feb. 15.—As usual 154 games will be played in the American league in the coming season, according to the official schedule announced last night. The season will open in the east, April 15, one day prior to the west. In the initial games Philadelphia will meet Boston at the Forbes field, while New York will cross bats with Washington in the Capital city.

The western openings the next day will see St. Louis in Chicago against the world's champions, while Detroit is scheduled to play in Cleveland. The season will close Oct. 5.

There will be only three conflicting dates with the National league, and all these will be in Chicago. Cleveland will be the opponent of the world's champions on all these occasions—June 23, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

Cleveland has been awarded the greatest number of Sunday games—fourteen. Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Boston have been given thirteen Saturdays each. Independent day games will be played in Chicago, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia.

The Labor day program calls for games in St. Louis, Detroit, Washington and New York, while Decoration day there will be games at Detroit, Cleveland, New York and Boston.

New York will play two games at Boston on Bunker Hill day, April 19.

Although basketball prospects took a decided brace with the return of Knapp and the announcement that Fladoc would be eligible to play, a severe setback was given the fans today with the report that Swenson, star guard, had been declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties.

The loss of Swenson will deprive Coach Lowman of one of the best men on his squad. It is expected that Lowman will now use Fladoc at guard with Simpson as his running guard, and Knapp at forwards.

PRIZE WAR AIM CONTEST ENDS; THOUSANDS ENTERED

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)

New York, Feb. 15.—The contest for a $1,000 prize for the best suggestion for the most effective method of placing America's war aims before the German people closed here today. Thousands of suggestions have been submitted. James W. Gerard, Dr. David Jayne Hill and Job B. Hedges are the judges of award.

BOWLING CONGRESS WILL OPEN WITH A SMALL ENTRY LIST

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)

Cincinnati, Feb. 15.—As the result of the war, the entry list for the international tournament of the American Bowling Congress will be considerably curtailed. It was announced today by A. L. Langtry, secretary of the congress. The tourney is scheduled to open here tomorrow and continue through March 9.

"At least 1,500 bowlers who have participated in A. B. C. tournaments in former years are at the front," said Langtry, "while the total number of bowlers who are members of the organizations affiliated with the congress and who now are serving with the colors is not less than 50,000."

"Under these conditions the showing made by this year's entry list is really surprising."

There is a possibility that the congress may be continued through March 14, Mr. Langtry said.

Entries this year include about 700 five-man teams who will shoot for $30,000 in prize money and other awards.

Women will participate in this year's tournament. Entries received by officials of the Women's National about seventy teams will compete in the tourney, which opens March 11.

—MORRIS MILLER

Joe Lynch, the New York bantam, who knocked out Kid Williams, short while ago, appears to be stepping out in front of the class. Lynch now regards himself as possessed with part of the bantam title or at least as good as Williams was in claiming. A puffing bit indeed. But there's no doubt that Lynch is a good boy and worthy of a chance at Herman's crown. Reports tell that he is rather tall and rangy with an unusual reach for a bantam and if he sees signs of growing into the feather class he cannot be blamed for making the most of things at present. The chief trouble with the bantams, however, is that there are so few real bantams among the title contenders. Herman has agreed to meet Lynch as soon as his eyes are better, but no one seems to know when that will be. Herman, in fact, is eager to fight all the title bouts he can before he marches away, as he knows now that he is sure to be drafted.

Many suggestions have been offered with a view to increasing the batting, in the belief that the fans would welcome a change that would bring about this result, and Miller Huggins voices the opinion that the most simple course that might be pursued to achieve this object would be to cut down pitching staffs. Says Huggins: "It stands to reason that a small staff of pitchers, each man working often and forced to go through with practically every game started by him because of an absence of reserve pitchers, would yield more hits than one who had not worked so hard. However, I do not believe that there is any great demand on the part of the general public for an increase in hitting. The fans have become educated to small scores and close games and have learned to like them."

The Senators will play the Phillies before national army troops at the soldiers' southern quarters early in April.

Bobby Roth of Cleveland was easy for pitchers last season. He struck out seventy-three times.

Roger Bresnahan is anxious to add Vic Sorrell to his roster, and says he is prepared to pay him a greater salary than is drawn down by any minor leaguer.

Kenneth Williams and Byron Houck, the two Portland players picked up last fall by the St. Louis Browns, have emitted a bowl over the contracts sent to them.

Walter Johnson established a record last season. He led in the number of consecutive victories, having won nine straight. Hamilton of the Browns and Myers of the Athletics each lost eight in a row.

Only seven of the twenty-five men Manager Griffith of the Senators will take south have signed their contracts.

The story that Matty will pitch for the Reds this year is again going around, despite the fact that Big Six has denied it repeatedly.

Harry Hooper is one member of the Boston Red Sox who will not wear a uniform of Uncle Sam, at least not for some time. He has notified his employer that he has been placed in Class 4 in the draft.

Chirsy Mathewson is reading the Cincinnati newspapers with much interest these days. They are lining up one by one for the 1918 campaign. Without consulting Big Six, the Porkville scribes have assigned Chase, Shean and Groh to the bases. Kopf to shortstop, and Neale, Roush and Griffith to the outfield. Wingo and Clarke will do the catching. Although Toney is lost, the Cincinnati boomers insist that the Reds have a wonderful pitching staff.

For the first time in many years the Cincinnati club is in such excellent shape that the lineup for the coming season has practically been decided upon at this date and but little experimenting will be done with youngsters in any of the positions with catching staffs and an infield and outfield composed of experienced and dependable men. Matty is looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to the opening of the 1918 campaign and believes that his club will finish to second place without additional strengthening, whereas in former years the Reds were usually in an embryonic state prior to their departure on the southern training trip.

Hal Chase, Heinie Groh, Tom Griffith and one or two other big leaguers appeared in the lineup of a team that engaged in an exhibition baseball game for the benefit of the Red Cross in Cincinnati the other night. The team was defeated by a score of 15 to 5.

Out in Portland, Ore., the fans are holding a voting contest to decide who will be the manager of the club next season.

Stuffy McInnis, recently traded by the Athletics to the Red Sox, is soon to marry Miss Elsie Sherman Dow of Manchester, Mass. Life with Stuffy is just one contract after another.

The Johnson-Willard fight pictures taken at Havana still are circulating in out of the way parts of the world. The Pekin Gazette of last November 22 contained the following notice: "The Johnson-Willard boxing match for the championship of the world is due for presentation at the Pekin pavilion this evening. Owing to the heavy expense incurred in procuring this feature, the prices of admission have been raised to $2 for both stalls and dress circle." The pictures still are shown at Havana each winter when the racing crowd arrives from America.

Pitcher, Edward Langdon, who made quite a name for himself with the University of Pittsburgh team, may sign with the Cardinals.

Jimmy Brenton, former White Sox infielder has enlisted in the aviation service. Brenton played with Kansas City following his release by the Chicago team.

MAY GET A CHANCE AT FEATHER CROWN

Alvie Miller, the Lorain, O., featherweight star, has been taken under the wing of Jim J. Dunn, manager of Johnny Kilbane, the feather champ who is now an instructor at Camp Sherman. Dunn is said to consider Miller the best 123-pound boy in the game now that Kilbane is in temporary retirement, and Miller's friends believe that if Kilbane does not return to active boxing the title will fall to Alvie.

FACE TO FACE.

There was a merchant in an adjacent city who advertised extensively and his motto was "meet me face to face." This must be true of the question of the proposal to change the present satisfactory form of government for the old discarded methods of the past.

It is a fight against individual members of the present council that actuate the minds of the leaders of the present movement. Personal matters in which the average citizen has not participated of interest. It is seeking to wipe out a great good and benefit.

THE NEW ARISTOCRACY.

This war will create a new aristocracy in both this country and Europe. It will be an aristocracy of nobility. Our boys, instead of becoming coal barons, steel kings or knights of industry, will be knighted upon the battlefield, with the accolade of valor and self-sacrifice.

It is the real, true worth of the man that counts, not the money or social position he commands. Just stop and consider this nation has contributed over six billion dollars already, has enlisted seven hundred thousand men in our volunteer armies, constructed thirty-two marvellous war camps in an equal number of locations, and drafted seven hundred and more thousand young men between twenty-one and thirty-one into war service.

THE LEGISLATURE.

It would appear that the coming session of the legislature extraordinary is going to be some gathering of the elements for verbal fireworks. Of course one does not wish to characterize members who oppose the idea of giving the temporary samizad of a United States senator to the government as the majority of the states, both north and south of the Mason and Dixie line have done, as enemies to the government, but just the same they are doing something that is bound to bring discredit to the state before they are through. It may mean impeachment of individual members for anti-American sentiments and the news will be spread broadcast through the nation when in reality the full blame will lay with the anti-administration element who seek to ruin or ruin. This policy has been so long dominant in the state that even if the workers have changed "managers" they still stick to the old doctrine and are ready to die for the great and glorious principle of "rule or ruin." However, Governor Philipp cannot be stamped and he will follow out the plan he has laid down even if it brings him political oblivion.

Contrib. writes in to ask what has become of the man that used to write those three volume treatises on how to avoid "Overproduction"? Well, when last heard from he had been down at the grocer's nineteen times trying to get a pound of sugar.

He'd heard that he could reach the top.

If he would work and never stop, And he could be a rich man, too, Anything he wished to do He could accomplish, if he'd spend His life to reach a certain cue.

He'd been told that he could gain Whatever goal he would attain By keeping at it, night and day, And that success must come his way.

And so he set his heart on gold, Thought, dreamed and planned of metal cold; Built his life around a plan To make himself a wealthy man.

He laughed at failure, scorned the frowns, Dealt at him by his greedier foes; Spurned every pleasure that would take

An hour that he might use to make The fortune that he longed to own And thus pursued his goal alone.

At last he made it! Fortune rolled And his purse a stream of gold. And into him there came the day When he could count his wealth and say:

"I've reached my goal. Behold! My lot is now the richest man on earth!" This standing on his lofty peak He turned, a friendly glance to seek, And then his joy grew icy cold, He stood alone beside his gold.

No friend was there, his wealth to share, No loving heart had followed there, His fight for gold and won, But friendship had not followed on.

And this, the lot of every man Who builds his life around one plan; He shall attain his dream, but he Shall pay the price for victory.

And he may find his conquest sad And yearn for joys he might have had.

ON THE SPUR
of the MOMENT
—ROY E. MOULTON—

HEATLESS MONDAY.
He couldn't go to work, So he stuck around the house And smoked his pipe and Played handball with the kid.

And when the eternal Weariness of things in general, And got in his wife's way, When she wanted to run the Indoor floor and clean up the floor, And he started nine arguments with her.

And talked about her folks, And finally, at 3 o'clock, She drove him out of the house, And told him not to come back till night.

And he went and played Kelly pool Until midnight, and he said: "Blue Monday? Where do they get that stuff?"

It's the only day in the week. See by the papers that one of the American aviators was pursued by five German planes, but got back to France safely.

In other words, he had an aero escape. Ho-hum.

In the words of the reminiscent bard: "Let's bring the awful past to view, When archaic men would club Their fellows with a knotted stick To steal a wife from some poor dith. An make him 'cash in' mighty quick.

The gladiators drew their swords, By slicing at his vocal chords. Or cutting keesakes from his heel. I'm glad I wasn't introduced to the Nere and his awful crew.

When other hapless souls produced The entertainment—so are you. And though we wait about the war—The cruelty of modern men—I'm glad I wasn't born before They had the galling gun.—Amen.

The papers say one of New York's deputy police commissioners is a Bible class teacher. But why hold that against him? Give him a chance and he may turn out all right.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Feb. 15.—Julius Tratt sold his farm just southwest of the city on Wednesday to E. Anderson, proprietor of the Clover Valley Hotel farm. The farm consists of eighty acres and there is an excellent house and buildings. The price paid was $210 per acre and Mr. Anderson has possession March first. Mr. Tratt has no definite plans for the future.

Evansville News

School Opens Next Monday.
Evansville, Feb. 15.—Yesterday morning the county fuel administrator, Jesse Earle, notified the school board that the Evansville public schools might open on next Monday, Feb. 19th.

Although Young America here has been having one gala holiday this week, and enjoying it to the utmost, yet the young men and women are glad that school will begin next Monday, for they seem to realize that they are robbing Peter to pay Paul, as it were, for the time they were missing now would have to be made up later—probably when the weather was much nicer.

On Thursday evening, Feb. 14, the local Knights of Pythias will celebrate the founding of the order in the United States and at the same time pay an honor to the members of the order—six in number—whose names are in the roll of honor in the service of their country. The roll of honor will be read and the service flag dedicated at this time. Every effort is being made by the committees in charge to make this event one of the greatest in the history of the local lodge. A very fine program is being arranged. Both the young ladies' quartet and the male quartette will furnish music for the occasion and other interesting numbers will be given. As that evening is the regular meeting night of the Pythian Sisters, their order will help the Knights in every way to make it an event long to be remembered. Each lady is requested to bring a lunch for herself and her escort while coffee and the trimmings will be furnished by the Knights. Five Hundred will be played and also those who wish will trip the light fantastic too.

Afternoon Club to Meet Saturday.
The Afternoon Club will meet at Library hall next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at which time the following program will be rendered: Paragony, Mrs. Ellis; Bill Nye (a sketch), by Mrs. Smith; reading, Mrs. Ballard; The Noble Prize, Mrs. Stevens; Social Committee, Group 3. Rev. Father McDermott will address the club on a matter of great importance. All members are urged to be present.

The World's need today is wheat. More and more of our soldiers are going to the front. Wheat must be had for them; for our millions at home, and still more millions abroad who need our help. Every one must help.

Wheat means flour—and now we must not only stop the waste of flour, but we must eat less. In order that we may have enough wheat to last until the next crop the Food Administrator has ruled that all bread must contain not less than 20 per cent of other cereals besides wheat flour, and that all cakes, cookies, sweet rolls, coffee cakes, etc., must contain 1-3 of other cereals. TONIGHT'S MEETING SHOULD BE LIVELY

GATHERING AT MYERS THEATRE TO TAKE UP PROPOSED CHANGE IN GOVERNMENT OPEN TO PUBLIC.

DISCUSSION EXPECTED

It is understood that some of the Gentlemen Who Are Leading the Movement for the Change Will Present Their Arguments.

At the public meeting of citizens interested in civic matters called for this evening at the Myers Theatre, it is expected there will be considerable verbal fireworks if present plans do not miscarry. The meeting has been called by the Committee of One Hundred, of which J. P. Cullen is chairman, H. O. Nowlan, secretary, S. M. Smith treasurer and John Soulmair finance committee.

A special invitation is given to the gentlemen behind the plan for the action and it is intimated that several will be present to avail themselves of the invitation. It is this is a display of intellectual fireworks that will be well worth listening to.

The ladies of the city are urged to be present, as they are as much interested in the question as the actual voters. The committee feels that this meeting is the opening wedge in the campaign to retain the present form of government and points out that the election of Tuesday, February 26th, is not for the selection of a candidate for mayor, but on the question of the retention of the present form of government or changing back to the city council system.

W. H. Dougherty will probably preside at this evening's meeting and music will be furnished by the Bower City Band.

HOLD OLLIE MYERS TO PROBE ANSWERS ON QUESTIONNAIRE

Judge Maxfield Awaiting Information From Federal Authorities—Two Drunks are Fined.

Before a sentence is given to Ollie Myers, who was arraigned in Municipal court, before Judge Maxfield, this morning, on a charge of drunkenness, an investigation will be made of the statements which he made when he filled out his questionnaire, relative to the support which he has been giving his wife and child. When questioned by the judge this morning Myers stated that he had done little work during the past three or four months and that he had been spending his time drinking and only gave partial support to his family.

After gaining these facts the judge asked him if he swore on his questionnaire that he was supporting his family. Myers admitted that he did not. The judge then decided to hold him without bail until he could get to get down. For my part I am going to do all I can to prevent such practices and will see that the penalties of the law are applied.

Two charged with Drunkenness. Ernest Beyers made another appearance in the municipal court this morning and was fined $15 and costs or the alternate of 20 days in jail. He told the judge that he could not remember the date of his last appearance but he knew he had been there. John Maciej, a native of Madison, took an enforced layoff in this city, the guest of the police department last evening. He was found in one of the depots in an intoxicated condition sleeping on the seats. He was fined $10 and costs or 15 days.

TENDERED BANQUET IN HONOR OF HIS 50 YEARS' SERVICE

Thos. Cullen Sr., on Completion of Fifty Years of Service, Is Given Banquet by Janesville Machine Company Last Evening.

To show their appreciation of his fifty years of faithful service in the shops of the Janesville Machine Company, Thomas Cullen, 603 S. Franklin street, was tendered a banquet by the foremen and the heads of the department at the offices at six o'clock last evening.

Mr. Cullen is in his eightieth year. Mr. Fred L. Smith, superintendent, presided. He called attention to the fact that at the head of the table sat three generations of Cullens, the grandfather, the son and the grandson, all in the employ of the company, at this time.

He also stated Mr. Cullen had served under four managers, Messrs. James Harris, A. J. Glass, L. B. Reynolds and J. A. Craig, and under three superintendents, Messrs. S. C. Cobb, N. I. Milliken and F. L. Smith. Mr. J. A. Craig, general manager, made an address, which dealt with the progress of the company the past half century and told many anecdotes on different members of the company within that time. He also dwelt upon the wonderful effect modern farm machinery had on large production of farm products, and that today we would be facing actual famine if our food on the farms had to be produced by hand implements, in use fifty years ago.

A tribute was also paid to the late co-worker, Thomas Madden, who passed away recently, and whose widow and small son received $1,000 in cash, which was made possible by the recent action of the company in taking out insurance in favor of its employees.

After the address, Mr. Craig, in behalf of the foremen, presented Mr. Cullen with a Victoria, and a complement of records.

This expression of esteem from his brother foremen was received with hearty thanks by Mr. Cullen. The balance of the evening was devoted to a general good time, including music and cards.

The committee in charge of arrangements were the following foremen: R. Wilson (chairman), P. E. Berg, F. Dunn, J. Foster, F. Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Fredrickson, left this morning for Racine, where they will spend a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Randall.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am twenty-one years old and so with a few more years and he has told me that he likes me. He is very good looking and I am crazy about him. I have met his folks and they are very nice and they seem to think a great deal of me, especially his mother. The only fault I find in this fellow is that he insults me every time he comes to see me. Should I tell his mother how he acts when he comes to see me?

(2) He knows how to act when he is in company with people just like, but he wants to make love to me when we are alone. What can I do to control him?

E. L. O.
Do not tell his mother. It is a matter for you to deal with yourself. Refuse to let the fellow come to see you. He insists upon making love. He has no right to try to make love since you are not engaged. Don't treat the matter lightly. Absolutely forbid his coming until he can respect your wishes, and he will respect you for that ever.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please suggest some games to be played at a Valentine party here and there are going to be boys from high school and girls, too?

(2) What would you serve?

J. V. A. L. O.
(1) Owing to the limited space for my answers and the large number of questions I receive, I cannot describe names for Valentine parties. If you watch the magazines you will find the description of many games suitable for the occasion. There are also books describing games at the library. (2) Serve ice cream, cake, hot chocolate and nuts, or salad, sandwiches, coffee and olive.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl seventeen years old. I am going with a boy nineteen years old. He wants me to be his bride. Do you think I am too young, and do you think I am too young to go with the boy?

F. A. N. C. Y.
You are too young to marry, and you are very young to go with boys.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am seventeen years old and I am engaged to a soldier who has been killed in France. I have met another here whom I like just as much. Would you marry him or wait for the other one?

M. A. B. L. E.
You are too young to marry. Wait until the war is over, or perhaps longer, and you will not regret your delay. You do not love either of the boys enough to marry them or there would be no doubt in your mind.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am nineteen years old and have been going with a girl in another city for some time, but it is so far to go every time I see her that I have sometimes decided to drop her. Sometimes I think I love this girl enough to marry her, but I suppose you will say I am too young.

(2) Is it too much to spend on a girl in one day? S. P. H.
You are too young to marry the girl. You ought to have several girl friends, and so I would advise you to go with the girl in the other city part of the time, and with local girls the rest of the time.

(2) A dollar is not too much to spend if you can afford it and if the money is your own. Some boys spend too freely of their fathers' earnings.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What good does it do to study Latin?

S. I. X. T. H. G. A. D. E. R.
Latin is a foundation for the English language and contributes to the appreciation and understanding of the English language.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Absorption is more rapid in the mouth than any other part of the whole alimentary tract. Absorption in the stomach is more active than in the small intestine. Absorption in the upper end of the colon near the appendix is less active than in the lower end of the colon near the rectum. The large bowel absorption practically does not occur at all.

In one individual, the journey of a meal through the food tube is delayed two hours in the upper end of the stomach (near the appendix). This constitutes right-sided constipation. In another individual the delay is in the lower end of the colon and this constitutes left-sided constipation. The delay would be a better word, meaning stand-still; for auto-intoxication from delayed progress of the food residue may occur in spite of regular daily bowel function.

The individual with right-sided constipation is prone to suffer from some of the innumerable symptoms of auto-intoxication, because here absorption of waste material is retarded. The individual with left-sided constipation may have no symptoms of auto-intoxication, because here the absorption of waste material is practically all. Thus it is that Mr. A. is worried at all over his left-sided constipation, unless he is a hypochondriac; while Mr. B. cannot help worrying over his right-sided constipation even though he is a cheerful optimist.

It is explained also how the eminent Dr. X. attributes all sorts of ills to neglected or unsatisfactory treatment of constipation. He knows the well known fact that the principal symptoms ascribed to faulty function of the bowels—such as headache, that tired feeling, headache, malaise, etc., are in reality caused by worrying over the action of the bowels.

Everybody is more or less right. It certainly is a pleasure to find that nobody is deluded about a question of health like this. It is such a relief to find that so good about it that I think I shall knock off work for the day and go out for ten miles or so.

It really is Very Funny
The naive way in which people assume that the stage in which they carry any line of action is just far enough, would be annoying if it weren't so amusing.

Take the matter of etiquette. Almost everyone thinks that a certain

GREAT FOR ECZEMA AND OLD SORES
I Guarantee My Ointment Says Peterson. Stops Itching Instantly
If you are responsible for the health of your family, says Peterson, "I want you to get a large 25 cent box of Peterson's Ointment today. Remember, I stand back of every box. Every druggist guarantees to refund the purchase price if Peterson's Ointment doesn't do all I claim. I guarantee it for eczema, old sores, running sores, salt rheum, ulcers, sore nipples, broken blisters, itching eczema, pimples, blackheads, skin diseases, blind bleeding, and itching piles as well as for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises and sunburn."
"I had 30 running sores on my leg for 11 years and was in three different hospitals. Amputation was advised. Skin grafting was tried. I was cured by using Peterson's Ointment."—Mrs. F. E. Root, 287 Michigan St., Buffalo, N. Y.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a three-cent stamp.)

Ordinarily it is very bad form for a woman to sew or knit while others are present; but Red Cross work is excepted and one need not apologize for continuing to do it while entertaining.

VESTA: A bride's outfit should include a good tailored suit, with a light and a dark blouse, two wool or silk dresses, a light colored gown for afternoon parties and the theater, and one evening gown. She must also have several wash-dresses to wear in the morning, and a supply of underwear large enough to allow for frequent changes. She will need, too, a wrap to wear with her gowns, and gloves, boots, etc. This much is really necessary, and added to according to her purse and inclination. However if her purse is full it is always unwise to invest in new clothing, because it will have to be worn within the season of the year, because things will go out of style, and she certainly will not wish to wear old-fashioned clothes. It is perfectly correct for a bride to travel in a suit that has been worn before—in fact, it is a very sensible thing to do, as she will look more "bridey" and will therefore be less conspicuous.

MOTHER: Do not give up. Continue to send your children to school with handkerchiefs in their pockets, and perhaps in time they will get into the habit of using them.

ESCALLOPED OYSTERS WITH RICE.
Use one cupful of washed rice and one pint of oysters. Drain the oysters and to the drained liquid add enough boiling water to make four cups. Bring to the boil, add the rice and cook for three minutes; then transfer to the fireless cooker and cook for one hour, using one radiator. To the cooked rice add salt, paprika and celery salt to taste. One lightly beaten egg and one tablespoonful of melted oil.

Arrange the prepared rice and the raw oysters in layers in greased baking dish and cover the top with buttered bread crumbs. Pour over it a small cupful of milk taken from the top of the bottle and cook about thirty minutes, using two radiators.

THE TABLE.
Veal Loaf—Two pounds chopped veal, one-half pound chopped pork (rather fat); add one-half doz. crackers rolled fine, two level teaspoons salt, one-half cup sweet milk (to keep fat), one-half cup water, one-half cup oil and put into baking pan with butter and pepper on top and water around it. Bake one hour or less, basting often.

Family Cake—Two cups sirup, one cup sugar, one cup fryings or lard, one cup raisins, two cups canned milk, one-fourth cup vinegar, one large teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one teaspoon ground cloves, one teaspoon cocoa, one-half teaspoon salt, flour to make batter. Melt lard, warm milk (as soda makes much nicer cakes if ingredients are warm). Bake in a slow oven in a sheet pan.

Conservation Pudding—One-half cup brown sugar, one-half cup shortening, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup soda dissolved in one-half cup water, one cup bread crumbs, one cup graham flour, three-quarters cup nut meats, one-half cup raisins.
Steam two and one-half hours. Will serve eight people.

Buckwheat Cakes—Start them with compressed yeast (one cake), three plants water, tablespoon sugar, teaspoon salt. Soak stale graham bread or corn bread, press all the water out and stir into the batter. In the morning add one-half teaspoon soda and one teaspoon baking powder. Use a little cold water to thin batter, and stir gently, or dip spoon up and down through it.

Bake on hot griddle. Serve with margarine and corn sirup. Makes breakfast fit for a king.

CEREAL WAFFLES.
Almost any of the cooked cereals may be utilized in this recipe, cream of wheat, rice and hominy being particularly good. Mix together about two cupfuls of flour, one tablespoon of baking powder, one teaspoonful of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Place in a mixing bowl three cupfuls of the cooked cereal, freed from lumps, and add one large cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of melted shortening and the yolks of two eggs. Beat the batter hard, fold two egg-whites whipped egg whites and bake in greased waffle iron.

Have the irons very clean and let them be thoroughly heated; then rub over with shortening tied in cloth, fill the sections two-thirds full and cook in the usual way. Serve with sirup or powdered sugar mixed with ground cinnamon.

Pebble spectacle glasses are made from clear crystal quartz. Fine crystalline quartz is found in every country. It is no better than good optical glass in its optical properties, but is somewhat heavier and its lustre longer than glass. Ordinary spectacle glasses are made of plate glass, which is inferior to quartz in optical quality and generally imperfectly polished.

Her Great Adventure

REVELLIE.
The night of the little walk and little talk with John Reaves, Claire went to bed with a lighter heart than she had known for many days. In the first place, there was the relief of having made up her mind. For that matter, her mind seemed to have made itself up. She smiled in the dark as she remembered telling Reaves out of a clear sky, so to say, that she had decided to marry him. The words said themselves, casting a veritable bolt from out her subconsciousness.

Then there was the renewed sense of having a friend in John Reaves. Claire recalled, with another little smile, how the strange city had taken on a friendlier air from the morning she felt the man's gaze fixed with respectful interest upon her face in the hotel dining room. Now there was a more definite link between them.

He had wanted to help her get out of the city, and she had accepted his suggestion. How sensitively he had appraised her abilities even while seeming scarcely to have seen her. Rub Youngsters' Colds Away With "Outside" Vapor Treatment

Local Druggists Have Imported the Invention of a North Carolina Druggist That Relieves Croup and Cold Troubles by External Application.

You Can Try a 25c Jar on 30 Days' Trial and Your Druggist Will Refund the Purchase Price if You Are Not Delighted with the Test.

Every mother breathes a sigh of relief when she first tries the North Carolina treatment, Vick's VapoRub, and finds that it is no longer necessary to "dose" the children with nauseous medicines for croup or cold troubles. VapoRub comes in salve form and when applied over the throat and chest the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, all night long, carry the medication direct to the air passages and lungs. At the same time VapoRub is absorbed through, and stimulates the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest. VapoRub has a hundred uses in the home—for deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis or incipient pneumonia just apply well over the throat and chest and cover with a warm, flannel cloth. For head colds, hay fever, asthma or catarrhal troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Croup is usually relieved within fifteen minutes and an application at bedtime prevents a night attack.

All mothers are urged to take advantage of the 30-day trial offer now being made by the local druggist and see for themselves just what VapoRub will do.

"Hello," thinks I, "an accident?" "And I landed on the suddenback broke with both feet, don't you know? But it was quite silly of me, for the car had stopped already. It had stopped right in front of its own little shed—even bumped into it gently. The little devil had deliberately turned round and gone home!"

"I was delighted with its cleverness, bawled, and I put some nice warm gasoline in right little shed. I took it out for another spin of a mile or two just to show I was master, and then let it go to bed."

The remaining three left most hurriedly of all.

RULE THAT FIANCEE IS NOT CLASSED AS DEPENDENT
[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Washington, Feb. 15.—Operation of the war risk insurance is breaking the heart and hopes of many a Sammie's fiancée.

A large number of soldiers applying for insurance have named their fiancées as beneficiaries, but have been informed that this is against the rules of the war risk insurance.

Only a wife, husband, child, grandchild, brother, sister, adopted brother or sister, stepbrother or step-sister, or a parent or step-parent of the insured can be named as a beneficiary.

"OLD BOYS" GATHER FOR MEETING AT MARINETTE

Marinette, Wis., Feb. 12.—"Old Boys" of the upper peninsula enough to form a formidable company of youthful defenders of America's democracy were here today discussing war service.

Invited by Y. M. C. A. officials, the annual older boys conference of upper Wisconsin and Michigan promised to prove one of the most valuable sessions in the history of the organization. Just what the "older boys" can do to help America with this war is to be outlined in an extensive program with prominent speakers. Three days of educational work is under way.

Janesville Widower Congratulated

"Since my wife's death, five years ago, I have suffered greatly from stomach and liver trouble, and my health has been in a state of decline. I was as yellow as saffron. My doctor could not help me. Six boxes of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets have entirely cured me. I have regained my weight and every one in congratulating me how well I look." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. P. Baker.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. They cure the liver at the expense of the teeth. Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

WASH THE KIDNEYS!

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys every few minutes. This is why the kidneys play such an important role in health or disease. If some mysterious process the kidney selects what ought to come out of the blood and takes it out. If the kidneys are not good-workmen and become congested—poisons accumulate and we suffer from backache, headache, lumbago, rheumatism or gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment and is disturbed at night. So it is that Dr. Pierce's of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., advises "Washing the Kidneys," by drinking six to eight glasses of water between meals and then if you want to take a harmless medicine that will clear the channels and cure the annoying symptoms, go to your druggist and get Auric (double strength), for 60c. This "Auric," which is so many times more potent than lithia—will drive out the uric acid poisons and bathe the kidneys and channels in a soothing liquid. If you desire, write for free medical advice and send sample of water for free examination. Experience has taught Doctor Pierce that "Auric" is a most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar.

Send Dr. Pierce 10c. for trial package.

Long Live The King

The governess protested that he heard nothing she told him, and was absent-minded at his lessons. But as she was always protesting about something, no one paid any attention. Bobby drew ahead on his pocket allowance without question, and as his birthday was not far off, asked for "the dollar to grow on" in advance. He always received a dollar for each year, which went into the bank, and a dollar to grow on, which was his own to spend.

With the dollar he made a number of purchases—candles and candlestick, a toy pistol and caps, one of the masks for the carnival, now displayed in all the windows, a kitchen knife, wooden plates, and a piece of bacon.

Now and then he appeared at the scenic railway, abstracted and viewing with a calculating eye the furnishings of the engine room and workshop. From there disappeared a broken chair, a piece of old carpet, discarded from a car, and a large padlock, but the latter he asked for and obtained.

His occasional visits to the railway, however, found him in old Adelbert's shack. He filled his pockets with charcoal from the pull beside the stove, and made cautious inquiries as to methods of cooking potatoes. But the pull of old Adelbert's gloom penetrated at last even through the boy's abstraction.

"I hope your daughter is not worse," he said politely, during one of his visits to the ticket booth.

"She is well. She recovers strength rapidly."

"And the new uniform—does it fit you?"

"I do not know," said old Adelbert grimly. "I have not seen it recently."

"On the day of the procession we are all going to watch for you. I'll tell you where we will be, so you can look for us."

"There will be no procession."

Then to the boy old Adelbert poured out the bitterness of his soul. He showed where he had torn down the king's picture, and replaced it with one of a dying star. He reviewed his days in the hospital, and the hardships through which he had passed, to come to this. "The king had forgotten his brave men."

During the rest of the day Bobby considered. No less a matter than the sharing of a certain secret occupied his mind. Now, half the pleasure of a secret is sharing it, naturally, but it should be with the right person. And his old playfellow was changed. Bobby, reflecting, wondered whether old Adelbert would really care to join his pirate crew, consisting of Tucker and himself. On the next day, however, he put the matter to the test, having resolved that old Adelbert needed distraction and cheering.

"You know," he said, talking through the window of the booth, "I think when I grow up I'll be a pirate."

"There be worse trades," said old Adelbert, whose head was now against every wall.

"And hide treasure," Bobby went on. "In a cave, you know," Bobby edged closer to the window. "I've got the cave already."

"So?"

"Here, in the park. It is a great secret."

"A cave—here in the park?"

"I'll take you, if you'd like to see it."

Old Adelbert was puzzled. The park offered, so far as he knew, no place for a cave. It was a plain, the site of the old wall, and now planted in grass and flowers. He himself had seen it graded and sown. A cave!

"Where?"

"That's a secret. But I'll show it to you, if you won't tell."

Old Adelbert agreed to silence.

Until midday, when the railway opened for business, the old soldier was free. So the next morning, due precautions having been taken, the two conspirators set off. Three, rather, for Tucker, too, was now of the band of the black flag.

Outside the thicket Bobby hesitated. "I ought to blindfold you," he said. "But I guess you'll need your eyes. It's a hard place to get to."

Perhaps, had he known the difficulties ahead, old Adelbert would not have gone on. And, had he turned back, then, the history of a certain kingdom of Europe would have been changed. Maps, too, and school books, and the life story of a small prince. But he went on. Stronger than his young guide, he did not crawl, but bent aside the stiff and ungainly branches of the fern. He battled with the thicket, and came out victorious.

"There it is!" cried Bobby.

He was not so old, then, or so feeble. His arm would have been strong for the king, had not—

"There it is!" cried Bobby.

Not a cave, it appeared at first. A few doorways, barred with an iron grating, and padlocked. A doorway in the base of a side wall of the gate, and so heaped with leaves that its lower half was covered.

Bobby produced a key. "I broke the padlock that was on it," he explained. "I snatched it with a stone. But I got another. I always lock it."

Prolonged search produced the key. Old Adelbert's face was set hard. On what dungeon had this boy stumbled? It was strange.

Bobby was removing the leaf-mold with his hands. "It was almost all covered when I found it," he said, industriously scrapping.

The door swung in, silently, as though the hinges had been recently oiled, as indeed they had, but not by the boy.

"It's rather dirty," he explained. "You go down steps first. Be very careful."

He extended an earthy hand and led the old man down. "It's dark here, but there's a room below: quite a good room. And I have candles."

Truly, a room. Built of old brick, and damp, but with a free circulation of air. Old Adelbert stared about him. It was not entirely dark. A bit of light entered from the aperture at the head of the steps. By it, even before Bobby had lighted his candle, he saw the broken chair, the piece of old carpet, and the odds and ends the child had brought.

Old Adelbert felt curiously shaken.

"None have visited this place since you have been here," he asked.

"I don't suppose any one knows."

"See 'Gets-Its' Peel Off This Corn."

Leaves the Toe as Smooth as the Palm of Your Hand.

"The corn never grew that 'Gets-Its' will not get it. It never irritates the flesh, never makes your toe sore, just two drops of 'Gets-Its' and presto! the corn-pain vanishes. Shortly you can peel the corn right off."

It's Wonderful to See "Gets-Its" Peel Off Corns!

Put your finger and there you are—pain-free and happy, with the toe as smooth and corn-free as your palm. "Gets-Its" is the only safe way in the world to treat a corn or callus. It's the sure way—the way that never fails. It is tried and true—used by millions every year. It always works. "Gets-Its" makes cutting and digging at a corn and fussing with bandages, salves or anything else entirely unnecessary.

"Gets-Its" is sold at all druggists (you need pay no more than 25 cents a bottle), or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Rheumatism Back On the Job With its Old-time Fury

No Let-up In Its Torture.

Pretty soon you will be reaching for the liniment bottle again, for the millions of little pain demons that cause Rheumatism are on the war-path. Winter weather seems to awaken them to renewed fury.

But your Rheumatism cannot be rubbed away, because liniments and lotions cannot reach the disease. It is in the blood, and only a remedy that goes deep down into the circulation, and routs out the disease germs, can rid you of this disabling disease.

S. S. S. has given some wonderful results in treating Rheumatism. Being a purely vegetable blood remedy, it purifies the blood of every germ, and thus removes the cause of Rheumatism. Get a bottle today at your drugstore, and start on the right treatment that will get results. Free advice about your case can be had by writing to Medical Director, 26 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

about it. Do you? "Those who built it, perhaps. But it is old, very old. It is possible."

He stopped, lost in speculation. There had been a story once of a passageway under the wall, but he recollected nothing clearly. A passageway leading out beyond the wall, through which, in a great siege, a messenger had been sent for help. But that was a passage; while this was a dungeon.

The candle was at last lighted. It burned fitfully, illuminating only a tiny zone in the darkness.

"I need a lantern," Bobby observed. "There's a draft here. It comes from the other grating. Some time, when you have time, I'd like to see what's beyond it. I was kind of nervous about going alone."

It was the old passage, then, of course. Old Adelbert stared as Bobby took the candle and held it toward a second grated door, like the first, but taller.

A close examination revealed to old Adelbert two things. First, that a brick-lined passage, apparently in good repair, led beyond the grating. Second, that it had been recently put in order. No unused passage this, but one kept in order and repair. For what?

That evening Adelbert called to see his friend, the locksmith in the university place. He possessed, he said, a padlock of which he had lost the key, and which, being fastened to a chest, he was unable to bring with him. A large and heavy padlock, perhaps the size of his palm.

When he left, he carried with him a bundle of keys, tied in a brown paper.

But he did not back to his chest. He went instead to the thicket around the old gate, which was still termed the "Gate of the Moon," and there, armed with a lantern, pursued his investigations during a portion of the night.

When he had finished, old Adelbert, veteran of many wars, one-time patriot and newly turned traitor, held in his shaking hands the fate of the kingdom.

The Countess Loschek was on her way across the border. The arrangements were not of her making. Her plan, which had been to go aloft across the mountain to the town of Ar-on-Ar, and there to hire a motor, had been altered by the arrival at the castle, shortly after the permission was given, of a machine.

"The matter of passports for the border is arranged, madame," Black Humbert told her.

"I have my own passports," she said proudly.

"They will not be necessary."

"I will have this interview at my destination alone, or not at all."

He drew himself to his great height and regarded her with cold eyes. "As you wish," he said. "But it is probably not necessary to remind madame that, whatever is discussed at this meeting, no word must be mentioned of the committee, or its plans."

Although he made no threat, she had shivered. No, there must be no word of the committee, or of the terror that drove her to Karl. For, if the worst happened, if he failed her, and she must do the thing they had set her to do, Karl must never know. That card she must play alone.

Everything hung on the result of her visit. If Karl persisted, if he would marry Hedwig in spite of the trouble it would precipitate, then indeed she was lost. If, on the other hand, he was inclined to peace, if her story of a tottering throne held his hand, she would defy the committee of ten. Karl himself would help her to escape, might indeed lead her. It would not be for long. Without Karl's support the king's death would bring the terrorists into control. They would have other things to do than to hunt her out. Their end would be gained without her. Let them steal the crown prince, then. Let Hedwig fight for her throne and lose it. Let the streets run deep with blood and all the pandemonium of hell break loose.

But if Karl failed her. She clinched her teeth.

How Company's Stew Was Traded Even For One Boche Prisoner And War Cross Told By Brandon

TRUTH TALES OF THE GREAT WAR—V.
THE CUISOT
By Gerald Brandon.

The men in the trenches have to be fed, and it is a serious task to light fires for cooking in the front line. Company kitchen and therefore usually had a few stoves in the rear and the food is taken to the trenches by the cook's assistants, "cuisots," as they are called at the front. It is considered more dangerous just behind the line than in the trenches themselves, and the "cuisots" must traverse this danger zone four times a day. Always the "cuisots" could be seen in the trenches; sometimes it arrives thickened with dirt, and sometimes it does not arrive at all. In these cases the men are authorized by their officers to eat their "emergency ration."

I will quote toward the hero of my story:

"I had made the trip only once before, and on the night, so I was not very sure of the road. Marchal, of the Eleventh squad, and myself, we started out at about nine in the morning, each with a pot of stew in one hand, a pot of stew in the other, a two-liter canteen of wine slung over one shoulder and a 'musette' containing sausage, cheese and other delicacies on the other. I was carrying seventy pounds which is supposed to be the weight an infantryman should carry."

DID NOT DARE TO SHOW HEADS ABOVE GROUND

"Everything went well for two miles. We walked along on the surface until we came to the outer edge of the forest, when it was as much as our lives were worth to show our heads above ground. We therefore took to a 'boyau' (communication trench) which seemed to wind in the right direction. I don't know that boyau. A bigger mess of mud I never saw. Ankle deep and sticky at best, and every once in a while a deep quagmire where a person could sink and not be seen. Some of these holes have been bridged over with planks, but they are slippery as the devil, and I slid off one of them and sunk up to my chest in the mire."

"I had the presence of mind to lift my arms as I fell and saved the stew, but the soup all spilled. Marchal gave me a hand to get out, and it was a good thing, for if I had not been out eventually, but my shoes remained in the mud, and though I lost a half hour trying to fish them out with a pole I could not find them."

LEFT ALONE HE WALKS UP AND DOWN HILL HOURS

"Marchal could not wait for me, so after a while I continued alone through the heavy fog, up and down hills, I seemed to me for hours."

"I never thought that I would bless the mud, but now I did, for it is easy on the feet. What would I have done in my stocking feet if the road had been rocky?"

"All at once I saw a helmeted figure standing in the trench with its back to it when I noticed that the helmet had a point. How could it be possible? Was I in the German lines?"

"As I had not been seen the thing to do was to go back the way I came, but I have always been curious, and I decided to investigate further. I found going up to the boche sentry I found he was fast asleep. Yes, mes viciux, fast asleep on his feet."

"Here was my chance. There were no other Germans within sight. I stole up to the sleeper and jammed my pot of stew over his head."

"He tried to call out, but the stew smothered his voice. I took the bayonet off his gun and prodded him with it, keeping one hand on the pot to prevent his getting it off, but I could not have worried him for long. I will bet that the boche did not even suspect that he was a prisoner. He must have thought that one of his comrades was playing a practical joke on him, for without much to do he folded to my pushing and accompanied me on my way back to the French lines, which I eventually found, after trying several of these sacred boyaus."

PERPLEXITY DOESN'T KEEP HIM FROM SOME OF THE SOUP

"Did you ever see the equal of the expression on the boche's face when we took off the pot?"

"Then suddenly, as he realized that he was a prisoner and unhurt, a grin of joy stole over his features and he let out a whoop and a 'boche'."

"The captain asked me a prisoner in order to get some needed information and as my boche did not prove especially averse to talking, the captain recommended me for the war cross. However, the men did not feel the same way."

"Do you call yourself a 'cuisot'?" one of the asked of you start out with good food and you turn up with a hunk of German flesh. Do you expect to eat your boche? Next time bring us some stew, this is a joke. The fighting end of the game without your help."

Way of Suffering

By REV. DR. E. P. WEST
Baptist Pastor
Houston, Texas

"And as he passed by, he saw a man blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying, Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he should be born blind? Jesus answered: Neither did this man sin, nor his parents; but that the works of God should be made manifest in him."—John 9:1-3.

The supreme doctrine of Christianity is undoubtedly the infinite love and divine compassion of God, as revealed in his dear Son. Now, Christian thinkers feel the painfulness of pain and recognize the seeming contradiction to universal benevolence in human suffering, quite as frankly and poignantly as the most cynical skeptic. Moreover, the Christian faces the problems involved with knowledge and candor, admitting the mystery, acknowledging the absence of dogmatic answers to the questions raised by suffering, and yet urging an interpretation as scientific, philosophical and satisfying as unbelief has ever displayed.

Since God is the divine father, the sufferings of his children are not to be regarded as penal. All the guilt and penalty of sin was laid upon Jesus and he put them away forever. We may talk about chastisement, or correction, for our father deals with us as with sons; or we may speak of reaping the results of mistakes and sins dropped as seeds in life's furrow in former years; or we may have to bear the consequences of the sins of others, but do not talk of God punishing his children. If God should punish us for our sins, it would seem that the sufferings of Christ were incomplete and the healing of his stripes inadequate for our peace.

God Revealed Through Pain.

The inmost, utmost things of God are revealed through pain. Affliction is the breath of the finer spirit of life. How does God manifest his finest work in patience? He takes a young life, full of hope and promise, and shuts it in a small room to linger through a long battle with ravaging disease, and makes that room a shrine where earth's sorrowing hearts find consolation through a great, rich, joyous, uncomplaining, transfigured life of holy character. How does God manifest his work of human tenderness? He breathes the dream of parenthood into two hearts that beat as one. The child comes to gladden all their days, but alas, she goes—and leaves grief's fiery footprints behind. Then the Crittenden rescue homes spring up to grieve the earth with the glory of human compassion. How does God manifest his great work in service? He draws the curtain and reveals the sordidness of sin and the blight of ignorance, crushing out the higher capabilities of a human race, to the eyes of a passionate Scotsman. David Livingstone lives, loves and suffers in Africa—but his grave becomes the cornerstone upon which rests the temple of hope for a benighted people. How does God manifest his august work of sacrifice? He lifts a cross on a lonely hill and heaven and earth stand still in awe and reverence, while his dear Son climbs his summit and pours out his life as an offering for peace. And who doubts that in this awful present hour God is pointing America to the cross of sacrifice? We must learn to bear the national cross before we are worthy to wear the crown of national honor. Unthinkable is the sacrifice we are called upon to make now in the world-struggle for justice, equality, liberty and peace, but the making of such sacrifice marks our people as worthy of the trust of power that God has given us. Through the darkness of terrible affliction we are sure to pass, but the jubilee of triumph shall finally be our song.

My friends, God is not interested in giving us easy and comfortable lives, individually or nationally. He is concerned to make us large and comprehensive souls. Affliction is heaven's challenge to us to try the resources of our spirit, even while we give God his chance to manifest finer works than are seen in the starry firmament or the marvels of mountains. Draw not back, therefore, from the darkness, for—
The dark has many a shining dew;
The dark is rich with nightingales;
With dreams, and with the heavenly muse.

An Extract From a Charge.
May the blessing of God be upon you in a form of grace which shall make you always a pastor indeed—"a good shepherd that feedeth the flock," a good shepherd that gives his life for the sheep," that thinks, studies, meditates, watches, prays, loves, lives, is ready to die for God, for Christ, and for the souls of men. I beseech you therefore by the mercies of God, I beseech you by the name and blood of him that died for us, that you love your people with a pure heart fervently. I beseech you by the love of Christ, that you seek that which is lost, bring back that which is gone astray, bind up that which is broken, and strengthen that which is sick, and pray for them always, without ceasing, before the throne of God.—Rev. J. C. Huske.

Need of the Infinite.
We try to get inspiration out of things which can never inspire. We need the infinite. We try to satisfy ourselves by heaping up the finite.—Susan E. Blow.

Daily Thought.
We have spoken of physical courage, or the courage of nerves, of moral courage, or the courage of principles. Besides these there is intellectual courage, or the courage of opinions.—Phillips Brooks.

BIBLE PICTURE QUERY—40

What Reward Does the Bible Promise a Man Diligent in Business?

Curious and Unusual Bible Questions

Look at the picture above, then turn to your Bible and find the answer to the question. The picture illustrates the verse in which the answer will be found.

Each week we will publish an illustrated question from the Bible and the following week publish the answer. See if you can find the answer before we publish it! Make a family pastime of this interesting feature—it will amuse and instruct you.

Last Week's Question and the Answer

Last week's query: "Who was the first President mentioned in the Bible?" This is answered in Daniel, Chapter 6, Verses 1 and 2:

"It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom a hundred and twenty princes, which should be over the whole kingdom. And over these three presidents; of whom Daniel was the first; that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the king should have no damage."

has been done largely by natives with crude implements, but a new invention has been recently put into use by which these shells are gathered in a much more rapid manner than heretofore by mechanical means. This is a trap-like device with an open front with a rotary wheel in front adapted to engage obstruction and raise the dredge thereover. This device is drawn over the bottom of the stream and in its passage scoops up quantities of the shells, which are taken on the vessel, from which the dredge is operated when the receptacle is filled.

DEHAVAN

Dehavan, Feb. 12.—Born, this morning, at 1:15, to Mr. and Mrs. Dehavan, a son, named John Dehavan, a son.

Mrs. Chas. Quinn and son Jack are in Milwaukee, spending two weeks with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Dehavan have arrived home from the University, to remain until Sunday night.

Mrs. H. E. Baunsey is under the care of Dr. Wright, today with a bronchitis.

The father and son meeting held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., at the Public School house, Tuesday evening, was a great success. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed themselves immensely. The lecturers Hoffman and Miles, who were present at the High school in the afternoon, and gave a lecture on foreign commerce, of which they were recently eye witnesses, spoke again in the evening and illustrated with a few lantern slides. Their talks were much enjoyed by the large audience.

After a vacation of nearly two weeks, owing to the shortage of fuel, the Janesville high school pupils will resume their studies next Monday. It will be the last of the condition of the roads a goodly number from this vicinity attended the Yandry auction Tuesday.

Wednesday and Thursday owing to the condition of the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Dehavan returned on Monday, Feb. 12, from Cleveland, O., where they have spent two months, with the latter daughter, Marguerite and family.

Mrs. Della Senter received a telegram on Tuesday from her son, Laurence, who with Geo. Cobb, of Chicago, is here at the home of her mother, Mr. A. V. Smith.

The country roads are just now in a dreadful condition to travel over. Mr. Murphy, of the Dehavan family, got into a bad spot near the assembly road, while driving to town Tuesday morning. The large team of horses, which was driving, were down in slush in their tracks. Mr. Murphy telephoned for help, and a team of mules were brought, which also got down. It finally took three teams to get the stage and all out of the mud.

Mr. Murphy had a milk tail of awful experiences, several hours being taken up in traveling a few miles.

NOTICE—Gazette is on sale at Riedel's Drug Store, opposite the Post Office.

Bradford, Feb. 14.—The roads at present are the worst of the season, and in many places have been unable to make the trip to the factory with the milk and have been busy devising ways of carrying it at home.

Wm. Handwall was a Janesville visitor Tuesday.

D. H. Hoffstrom visited in Chicago recently and attended the auto show at Whitewater for the week end.

Jack Helms' load of fifteen was subjected to a spill Saturday evening when their sleigh, being pulled by a team of four horses, was overturned. Fortunately no one was hurt.

The box social postponed from Friday until Saturday evening, given at the Wm. C. Helms' home, was largely attended and the sum of $41.68 was realized, to be divided be-

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Feb. 14.—Several from the village attended the Hanson sale in the town of Plymouth, in spite of the bad roads. Good prices were obtained.

Adrian took advantage of the visit of Earl Bracken, Deputy Federal Income Tax Collector, and made their returns, on Thursday.

George Fankhurst went to Janesville on Thursday evening, and spent the night at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. P. Smiley.

Mrs. Out Swan died at her home in Beloit, on Wednesday, and was buried in the local Lutheran cemetery, on Friday.

Farmers again commenced delivering their milk at the condenser, on Thursday, the "strike" having been called off.

"Kosey Korne" having taken the place of Clarence Nelson, who resigned his position there a week ago, Mr. Kosey formally owned the business and said to the present proprietor.

The regular meeting of the Women's Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. H. N. Husgard, on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance, and an interesting time is reported.

Orfordville, Feb. 14.—Elmer Wee was in the village on Wednesday, and was buried in the local Lutheran cemetery, on Friday.

A. C. Mastine who has been seriously ill for a number of weeks has sufficiently improved so as to be able to be upon the streets again. His many friends are much gratified at his recovery.

A case of hard coal was received at the local yards, that further relieving the fuel situation in the village.

There was not as large a crowd at the Chas. Edman sale in the town of Spring Valley as there would have been had the roads remained in better condition. In spite of unfavorable conditions, good prices prevailed.

Oscar Eglall has commenced the erection of an electric light line between his farm in the town of Plymouth and the village, thus giving him the advantage of first class lights in all of his farm buildings.

The attendance at the school is much below the average, due in a measure to the fact that many of the children have been vaccinated and are nursing sore arms. One of the local physicians went to school a

Brodhead News

Brodhead, Feb. 14.—George Lyons and Miss Mary Preston, of W. students, are home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Soleader entertained a small company of friends Tuesday evening. The time was spent in social converse and cards and there were refreshments.

Frank Lewis is in Milwaukee at the hospital with Mrs. Lewis.

After being closed for some weeks on account of the shortage of fuel the Knights of Pythias lodge will be opened again this evening. The Episcopal church has just organized two teacher training classes, the members of which will prepare themselves for teaching in the Sunday schools.

Rev. Witherbee of the Albany M. E. church was a visitor in Brodhead Wednesday.

A. Preston was a business visitor in Juda today.

The city council of the city of Brodhead has published an ordinance relating to the building of a new electric power plant, the changing of the power system, and making changes in the
